Newsgames

GameJam 14.-16. November 2014

jochen.koubek@uni-bayreuth.de   Tobias.Koepplinger@kurier.tmt.de

NEWSGAMES
Journalism at Play

IAN BOGOST
SIMON FERRARI
BOBBY SCHWEIZER

simulation meets political cartoons.

— Gonzalo Frasca

Games that utilize the medium with the intention of participating in the public debate.

— Miguel Sicart

Journalism at Play
— Bogost, Ferrari, Schweizer

Aktuelles

September 12th

Snowden Run 3D

Phone Story

Infografiken

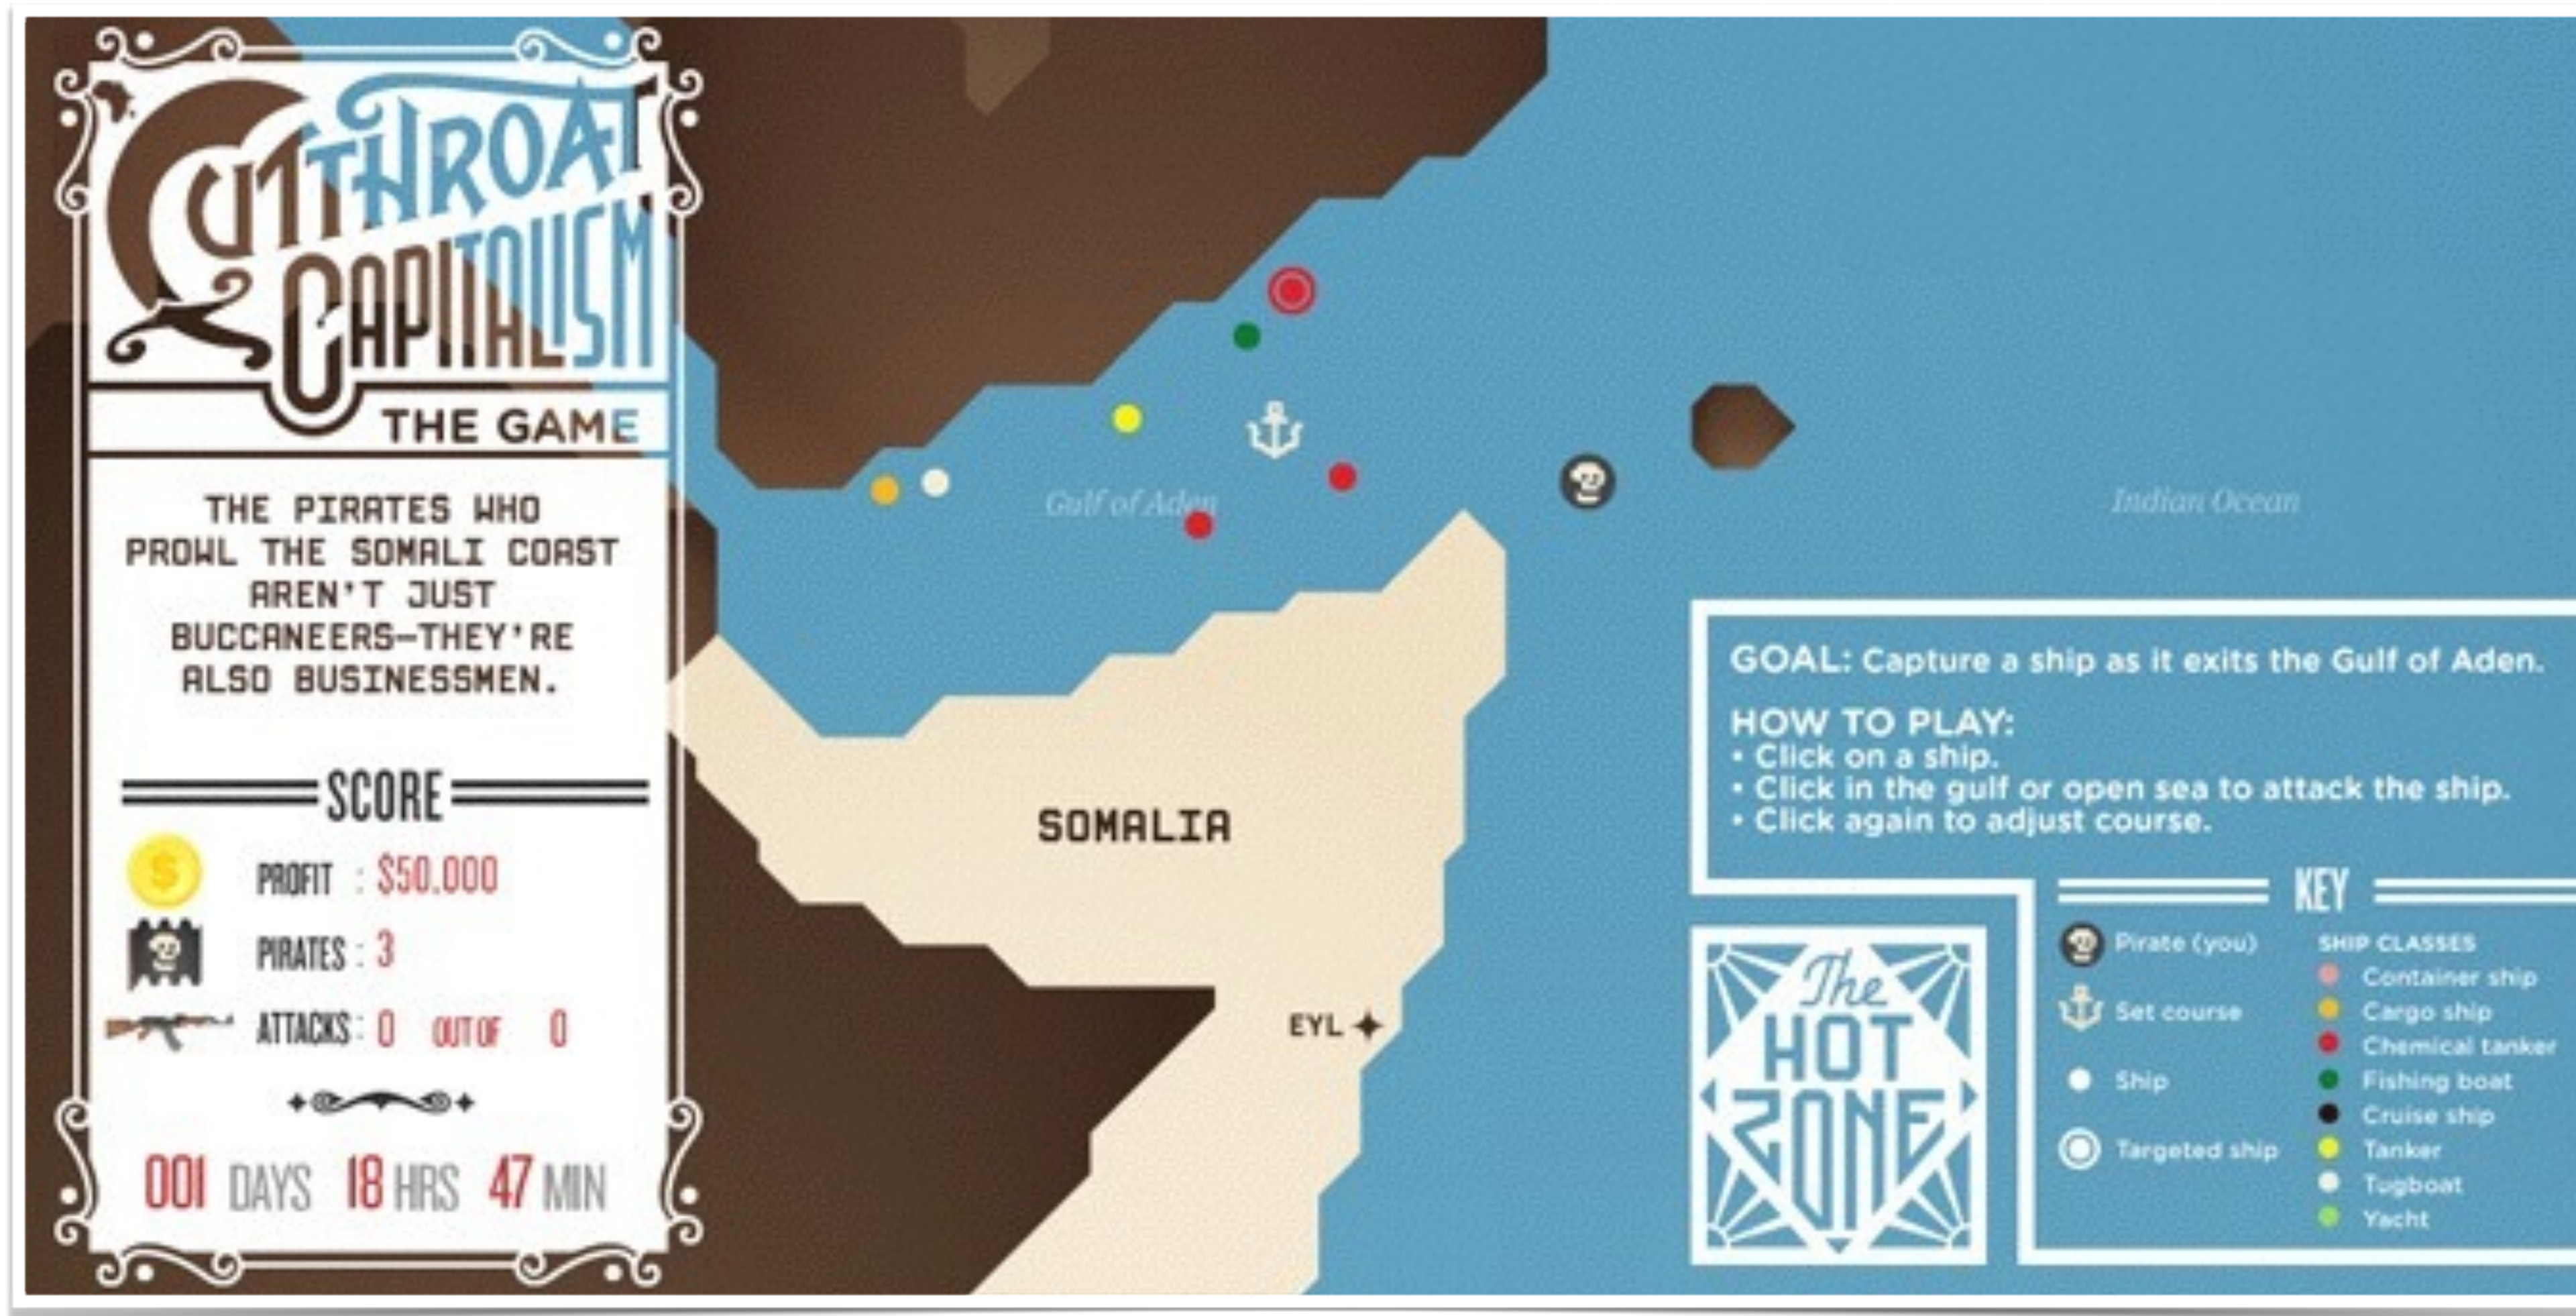

ReDistricting Game

Budget Hero

Dokumentationen

Cutthroat Capitalism

Darfur is Dying

Feuilleton

You can hear the protesters chanting outside of your apartment. They wave flags and hold cloth signs with red script, four marchers across. Your son, Emad, 10, watches attentively over the balcony, the third story. Your daughter, Yara, 6, puts her hands over her ears as she leans against your skirt. You wear a hijab that covers your hair, but not a burqa that covers your face. Last year the Syrian government banned face veils, like Niqabs, in the universities. Since then you, and many other Syrian women, have been dressing more modestly. Ali, your husband, 38, watches the protesters with steely eyes. You remember when the Mukhabarat interrogated him for 5 hours at his place of work. You know he remembers as well. You know he is thinking about joining the protesters. But he is still doing just that, thinking... Perhaps you can sway his opinion...

1. Tell Ali to forget Assad's secret police. It was only one time. Tell him he has a good life with you and his children. Tell him it isn't worth it. Tell him you will worry about him.
2. Tell Ali to join the protesters on the street, three stories below. Tell him Assad has gotten away with his dictatorship for too long. Tell him that you and your family are being marginalized because, even though you are the Sunni majority, the Alawite minority still unjustly reaps the luxuries of Syria.

1,000 Days of Syria

Pioneers
An Interactive Fiction by Chris Kohler
Release 1 / Serial number 121218 / Inform 7 build 6G60 (I6/v6.32 lib 6/12N)

Field
You are standing in an open field west of a white house.

You can see a small door and a mailbox (closed) here.

>open mailbox
You open the mailbox, revealing a parcel and a letter.

>read letter
It is a letter on WIRED letterhead, and it seems to be addressed to you. It begins...

"YOUR ASSIGNMENT: Interview Dave Lebling, co-creator of the influential text adventure Zork and co-founder of the legendary game maker Infocom. Also get a supporting quote from another Infocom designer to round out the story.

Rätsel

Puzzle picker. Note that larger puzzles can take a while to start up

Flash version: WIN 7,0,19,0

Handicap   Options   WordZap   Help

Daily News Crickler - Thursday, June 3, 2004

Compiled by Barbara and Michael Crick

1. The Olympic torch left Athens Wednesday, kicking off a 46,800-mile round-the-world journey that will take it across six ___.

2. The flame arrives Friday in the Australian city of Sydney, which ___ the last Summer Olympics four years ago.

3. International Olympic Committee president Jacques Rogge said the global torch relay would remind the world of the universal Olympic ideal of ___.

4. In comments published by The London Times, former archbishop of ___ George Carey said Prince Charles and Camilla Parker Bowles should be allowed to marry.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21
Crickler

Cartoon

So you think you can drive, Mel?

Kabul, Kaboom

Gamification

Play the News

Predict the News

Newsgame Design

Newsgames sind

einfach

allgemein verbreitbar

illustrierend

partizipierend

kurzlebig

Zeit ist knapp! Produzieren Sie schnell

Bevorzugen Sie Systeme vor Geschichten

Wählen Sie ein Subgenre

Konzentrieren Sie sich auf Interaktion

Beschränkte aber profunde Interaktion

Verlassen Sie sich auf Spiel-Konventionen

Nutzen Sie Konventionen unerwartet

Viel Erfolg!